'Arts' big guns seek visa-free travel to EU

THE usual tiresome suspects have lined up asking for special treatment for 'the arts'.

Serial bleaters Sir Ian McKellen (above) and Sir Patrick Stewart have joined big names in British theatre to urge Boris Johnson to secure visa-free EU travel for artists.

In a letter from the Equity union, the new rules are described as a "towering hurdle" for the industry.

"Before, we were able to travel to Europe visa-free. Now we have to pay hundreds of pounds, fill in form after form and spend weeks waiting for approval – just so we can do our jobs," the letter states.

It says those in the performing arts have already lost work.

More than 280,000 people have signed a petition calling for a cultural work permit deal to be reached between the government and EU.

Unis to get 'free speech champion'

GROUPS representing students and universities have expressed caution at plans for a "free speech champion" to regulate England's campuses.

The government has announced plans for the role to ensure freedom of speech and expression is not stifled.

The left-wing National Union of Students claimed – supposedly with a straight face – there is "no evidence" of a freedom of speech crisis on campus.

And the Russell Group of leading universities says universities need to keep their "institutional autonomy".

I'M GETTING AN ELECTION!

Topless protest at poll

WHILE we get dumpy lefties in scarves moaning at demos in Britain, abroad they do it much better.

Topless Femen activists in Spain protested against the Vox candidate, Ignacio Garriga, when he arrived at his polling station in Barcelona.

Vox is a right-wing party which is making inroads in Spain.

The activists waved banners that branded Garriga and Vox as "fascists", while police officers pushed them away.

Spain's a lot touchy about the whole fascism thing, having only got rid of their own dictator, General Franco, in 1975.

£1,200 BILL FOR HAVING COVID

Extra costs for quarantine 'guests' who test positive

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

TRAVELLERS in quarantine hotels face an additional £1,200 bill if they test positive for coronavirus, the government says.

This is on top of the £1,750 fee for entering the programme and will apply to guests required to extend their stay beyond the initial 11 nights.

Information about the £152 daily cost of longer stays was published on the government's website on Monday, after some guests had already checked in.

Travellers arriving in England must quarantine in a hotel if they have been in a country at high risk of coronavirus variants in the previous 10 days.

Scotland is extending the requirement to cover arrivals from any country, unless they travelled from the Common Travel Area (CTA), which includes the UK and Ireland.

Guests are allowed to leave after 11 nights if they receive negative results from tests taken on day two and day eight of their isolation.

A positive result from the first test will extend a stay by two nights, at a cost of £304.

If the second test returns a positive reading, the guest must remain in their room for an additional eight nights and pay £1,216.

Boris Johnson was asked at Monday's Downing Street press conference what will happen if a traveller cannot afford the extra fee.

The prime minister replied: "It is currently illegal to travel abroad for holidays anyway.

Concern

"We would expect people who are coming in from one of these red list countries to be able to cover their costs."

There are 33 countries on the government's "red list" – which includes Portugal, the United Arab Emirates, South America and southern Africa.

UK and Irish nationals and UK residents returning to England who have been in a country on the list in the previous 10 days must enter a quarantine hotel, even if they have travelled via the CTA.

Scotland's First Minister Nicola Sturgeon has already expressed concern about gaps in the current system for international arrivals.

She told a coronavirus briefing in Edinburgh on Monday: "It would be better if we had that four nations approach, or at least a three nations approach, where the border of the island that Scotland, England and Wales share had the same provisions in place."

NOW NIGERIA GETS ITS OWN STRAIN

ANOTHER COVID variant – linked to Nigeria – that could dodge vaccine-triggered immunity has been identified in the UK, scientists say.

The strain – called B.1.525 – has been spotted 33 times already, but experts say this could be an underestimate.

It carries the E484K mutation found on both the South African and Brazilian variants, which make the current crop of jabs slightly less effective.

The variant also has the Q677H mutation on its crucial spike protein, prompting warnings from scientists that this could make it even more resistant to vaccines.

And it shares similarities with the Kent strain, which studies show is up to 70% more infectious and deadlier.

The B.1.525 variant was first detected in Britain in mid-December – but this doesn't mean it evolved here.

The UK does far more sequencing than other countries. It has already spread to 11 countries including the US, Canada and Denmark, which are not on the UK's 'red list'.

The variant has been linked to travel from Nigeria.

We haven't been on a booze binge

SALES of alcohol per adult dropped by six per cent in the early part of lockdown, a new study has shown.

Research by Public Health Scotland and the University of Glasgow found the drop in Scotland, as well as England and Wales, between mid-March and July 11 last year.

Instead of assessing how many alcoholic items were purchased, the researchers were able to use purchase data and calculate the volume of pure alcohol based on the strength of drinks purchased to calculate the totals.

Lockdown took effect on March 23, with pubs and restaurants forced to close.

Compared to what would be expected, had physical distancing measures not been put in place, the volume of pure alcohol bought by people in Great Britain dropped by 6%.

A significant spike in off-sales – 28% in Scotland and 29% in England and Wales – was not enough to offset the drop caused by the onset of the pandemic.

Hopeful sign as virus deaths fall

THE number of weekly registered deaths involving coronavirus in England and Wales has fallen for the first time since Christmas, new data shows.

There were 7,320 deaths registered in the week ending February 5 where "novel coronavirus" was mentioned on the death certificate, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) said.

This is a fall of 1,113 deaths (13.1%) compared with the previous week.

Coronavirus accounted for 42.6% of the overall deaths registered during the seven days, which also fell from the previous week.

All regions in England and Wales saw a decrease in the number of deaths involving Covid compared to the previous week.

Kim's hackers tried to nick vaccine data

NORTH Korea attempted to steal COVID-19 vaccine technology from US pharmaceutical company Pfizer, say South Korean intelligence officials.

It is unclear what, if any, data was stolen.

Kim Jong-un's secretive country, which has yet to report one case of coronavirus, is awaiting two million doses of the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine.

TICKLE MY FANCY: Miley's play area

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

POP sexpot Miley Cyrus spent Valentine's Day on a marathon FINGERING session.

The 28-year-old made the revelation to her social media followers on Sunday and caught the attention of her fans with her racy messages.

The ex-Disney star – in cryptic style with the letters in alternate upper and lower case – posted: "Happy shamelessly masturbate for 24 hours while eating chocolate day."

Topless

She added: "Such a meaningful holiday based on loving & cherishing yourself as 1 solid fully realised individual with no need for external completion!

"The best part about Valentine's Day is how good it leaves everyone."

It's thought the message about "no need for external completion" could have been a dig at her ex-husband, Marvel movies star Liam Hemsworth.

Their divorce – after a two-year marriage – was formally completed last year.

Accompanying the Valentine's Day posts were a selection of some of her racier pictures – including topless images.

Miley recently claimed she prefers women to men – and even decorates her home with sex toys, telling sex podcaster Kaitlyn Carter: "Girls are way hotter. We know this.

"Everyone, I think, can agree that from ancient times dick makes wonderful sculptures. Other than that, I'm not as interested.

"I like dick as art pieces. And sculptural, I love the shape, I think it looks really good on a table."

PORN KING'S 'SEXXY' SEND-OFF

PORN publisher Larry Flynt will be sent off with a bang at the weekend.

Larry Flynt's Las Vegas Hustler Club will honour its founder with a sexy "Celebration of Life" party – with drinks, performances by pole dancers and an onstage memorial.

The strip club remembrance ceremony plans to mirror the lifestyle of the porn peddler turned free speech champion (right), who died of heart failure at his Los Angeles home last week at the age of 78.

The club's dance group, "Sexxy After Dark" – a barely-clad burlesque troupe known for its "pole acrobatics" and on-stage "sexuality" – will take centre stage as bartenders serve signature Flynt Goldfinger cocktails.

The ticketed event is open to the public and will adhere to COVID-19 regulations.

COVID puts Dancing On Ice on hold

DANCING On Ice is to take a week-long break after ITV said it was "prudent" not to have a live show this weekend.

The decision follows the departure of Emmerdale actor Joe-Warren Plant (above) last week after he tested positive for COVID-19.

It had previously been announced that Jason Donovan would not be competing this weekend due to back pain.

The show will return on February 28 and will be replaced this weekend by a one-off special featuring past highlights.

Leftie comedian Rufus Hound was also forced to exit the show earlier this month after testing positive.

This year's series has also seen the departures of actress Denise Van Outen, who withdrew after partially dislocating her shoulder during training, and reality TV star Billie Shepherd, who injured herself in a fall.

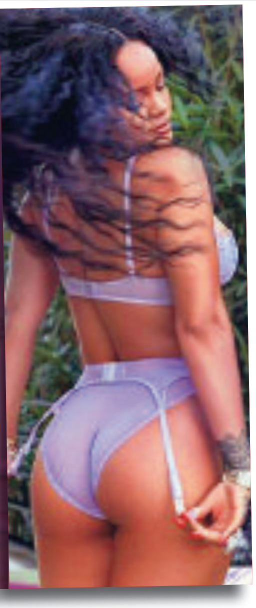
Pop stunna continues flogging her smalls as fashion label closes down

GOOD NEWS: Rihanna won't drop her knickers



SEXY singer Rihanna last week agreed to shut down her Fenty fashion label after less than two years in production.

But, thank goodness, the 32-year-old is NOT dropping her knickers.

Although the Fenty fashion label is heading for the knacker's yard, the Savage X Fenty lingerie line will continue, as will cosmetics lines Fenty Beauty and Fenty Skin.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

And today we celebrate that reprieve by posing a load of snaps of Rihanna in her famous gruds.

Luxury goods firm LVMH, which runs the Fenty label with Rihanna, said Fenty's ready-to-wear clothes would be "put on hold" pending better conditions.

Steep

Fashion analysts say although Rihanna has a huge fanbase, the Fenty label's prices were too steep for most of them.

But LVMH and Rihanna have pledged to concentrate on the long-term development of the 'Fenty ecosystem'.

Rihanna, whose full name is Robyn Rihanna Fenty, became the first black woman to lead a house under the LVMH brand when the Fenty range launched in spring 2019.

But there have been no posts on the brand's Instagram account since the start of this year – and no new collection has appeared since November last year.

Rihanna's moves into the fashion world have come at the expense of her music career.

Once renowned for putting out an album a year, she has not released a new set of songs since Anti in 2016.

Thankfully, the driver was watching the truck's surveillance camera and he spotted Elias' plight in Tampa, Florida.

EAMONN SCOFFS AT MEGHAN 'ADVERT'

DOUBTS: Eamonn Holmes

EAMONN Holmes has blasted Prince Harry and Meghan Markle's decision to do a tell-all interview with Oprah Winfrey, branding it an "advert".

The presenter, 61, gave his opinion on yesterday's This Morning, after it emerged the couple had recorded a 90-minute special with the legendary chat show host.

Speaking to royal correspondent Camilla Tominey and Nick Ferrari, Eamonn disputed the idea it was interview, and was instead a marketing tactic because Oprah, 67, "is a mate".

Eamonn said: "Well, it's not an interview really, is it? It's an ad, really. I mean, Oprah's a mate, Oprah was at her wedding.

"Meghan's mum stayed with Oprah at her home as a house guest. So it's not an interview as such."

Eamonn has previously come under fire for his outspoken views on the royal couple.

Back in 2019, he was reprimanded by ITV bosses for describing Meghan as "uppity" because the term has racial connotations.

It followed a complaint from a viewer after Eamonn discussed an incident in which security personnel tried to stop tennis fans taking photos of the Duchess of Sussex at Wimbledon.

Eamonn said: "If you have an uppity attitude, you're only through the door two minutes and you're sitting at Wimbledon and your royal protection are saying, 'No photos!'"

Cara shares her sex toys with friends

CARA Delevingne's friends had a very satisfying Christmas – after being given SEX TOYS by the model.

Cara, 28, joined the sex tech company Lora DiCarlo last year as co-owner and creative adviser, and is loving her new role.

Her friends have been loving it too, as Cara has been sharing the goodies from her job with her nearest and dearest.

Speaking on the OTHERtone podcast with Pharrell Williams, Fam-Lay and Scott Vener, the Suicide Squad actress said: "My friends are like, 'I know what I'm getting for Christmas'.

"You know, I was sending around sex toys. I was like 'Merry Orgasm to you, hope you enjoy'."

Cara got involved in Lora DiCarlo to help "take away the stigma of female pleasure", after noticing many sex toy companies were owned by men.

She said: "All these sex toys were made and they are, like, just too intense."

Woman drank her own piss as virus cure

A MOTHER and her kids drank their own urine after being told it was a cure for coronavirus.

The woman believed that the COVID vaccine had been compromised by Bill and Melinda Gates and would be "dangerous" for them.

She told a health watchdog in London that she preferred "traditional cures" instead.

The mother heard about the urine "cure" in a video sent to her by a friend on WhatsApp. It told her to drink her own piss each morning.

The revelation was published in a report into COVID misinformation, conducted alongside the French African Welfare Association.

It came as the head of NHS England said that the country remains in battle against a "pandemic of disinformation".

Host Anna reveals contestant was removed from set of C4 show after getting a BONER

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

NAKED Attraction* presenter Anna Richardson revealed a male contestant had to be escorted off the show's set after cracking a bone-hard STIFFY!

She said that during an episode of the Channel 4 programme one of the unclothed men had to be taken away to 'calm down', having grown 'a little bit excited' about being on the show.

The 50-year-old presenter added that the temperature of the studio is constantly debated – as male contestants want the room warm 'to look their best' while women want it chilly.

Naked Attraction displays six single participants in the nude while another chooses from the line-up by peeking at their private parts.

Excited

Speaking on the Andy Jaye podcast, Richardson said: "A couple of seasons ago there was a young man, who I think might have been in the pink pod, and he was getting a little bit excited at what was about to happen.

"Our lovely floor manager Dave had to come on and just escort him off the floor for a little while just to calm down.

"And then he was brought back onto set.

"It all happens. We have had a couple of occasions where, boys being boys, you can't control your anatomy, can you?

"So there has been a little bit of excitement."

She added that the appropriate temperature is argued between the genders – and that some male contestants are constantly told off for 'fiddling' with their manhood.

"The boys always want the studio to be warm, and they're always doing that crafty tug behind the pods because they want their manhood to look at its very best," Anna said.

"So they're always fiddling and touching. All the girls in production are always having to go 'look, boy in the red pod – just leave it alone, leave it alone'.

"Whereas the girls want the studio to be freezing because, of course, they want their boobs to look at their very best.

"So there's always a kind of fight between the boys and the girls over the temperature controls in the studio."

Richardson began her telly career presenting The Big Breakfast on Channel 4.

She has also presented Supersize vs Superskinny and The Sex Education Show.

She is currently in a relationship with fellow presenter and comedian Sue Perkins, 51.

Kate's kid sis joins 'posh version' of OnlyFans

WHEN you want to flash your tits but you're too posh for OnlyFans…

Lottie Moss took to Instagram to promote her new endeavour – a page on 'upmarket OnlyFans' style site Glow.

The little sister of Kate Moss linked to the snooty version of the celeb grot services on her personal website and also plugged it on her Insta page.

It comes after Lottie was spotted meeting with the founder of Glow, Noah Traisman, two weeks ago.

Joined by Justin Bieber's ex Sahara Ray, the trio were seen in Los Angeles.

Sahara, 27, is already a Glow member and has a promotional video on her Instagram page of her and Lottie in sheer lingerie posing for the camera.

It was first reported that Lottie had taken to so-called "fan content" over the weekend, when accounts for her company Lottiem Ltd just filed at Companies House showed she had £96,604 in the bank as of December 2019, down from £151,929 ten months earlier.

Lottie's Glow page offers visitors the chance to see her 'booty and boobs' for $5 (£3.60).

But one fan said: "Not a bean unless I get American-strength, held open at the very least."

Look what Russia's got... BLUE dogs!

A PACK of stray dogs with bright-blue fur has been spotted.

Photos of the dogs roaming through the snow in the city of Dzerzhinsk, 200 miles east of Russia's capital Moscow, sparked mixed reactions on social media.

Some compared the dogs to cartoon and movie characters, but others expressed outrage that the stray animals' health could be at risk.

The dogs may have been exposed to chemicals at a nearby abandoned factory that produced plexiglass and hydrocyanic acid, giving their fur the eye-catching blue colour.

Stray dogs often roam near the abandoned factory's buildings, which still store chemicals like copper sulphate, the plant's former bankruptcy manager said.

Authorities in Dzerzhinsk are currently negotiating with the company's management for permission to enter the closed factory grounds, catch the dogs and determine what caused their fur to turn blue.

Missing fisherman hunt finds human remains in croc

HUMAN remains were found inside a crocodile as authorities hunted for a missing fisherman they feared was eaten by one of the reptiles.

Andrew Heard, 69, went fishing near Hinchinbrook Island in northeast Queensland, Australia, but never returned.

Heard's wife, Erica, alerted police, who found his capsized boat in Gayundah Creek, between Cairns and Townsville.

The Department of Environment and Science caught two crocodiles near the boat's location as part of the probe and euthanised them.

One of the crocs – measuring 14 feet long – was found to contain human remains.

SHE'S flogged overpriced eggs for birds to shove up their front bums and sold candles that smell of her minge...

So it was only a matter of time before Gwyneth Paltrow brought out her own VIBRATOR!

Gwynnie announced her lifestyle brand Goop has launched its first sex toy with a cheeky Instagram post on Valentine's Day.

But not everyone was impressed at the 48-year-old's latest venture, with one online wag suggesting it was just a matter of time before Paltrow started selling her own FANNY BATTER!

Goop

Cruel troll studio_album sneered: "She's probably working on something with the 'goop' collected from her pussy too."

Paltrow, who sang the praises of mega-perv Harvey Weinstein at the 1999 Oscars, said she's been inventing the ct-pleaser while in lockdown.

"Had to pass the time, you know?" the mother-of-two joked on her Instagram Story.

Her post was an instant hit among fans and many of her celebrity pals. Actress Drew Barrymore commented: "Oh my God, I love you."

Others joked "who needs an Oscar when you have the 'best vibrator'."

According to the Goop website, the vibrator features a 'wonder-ball wand with deep, rumbly vibrations' and external stimulation on one end, and 'powerful and precise vibration' for clitoral or internal stimulation.

Sex party host slams 'homophobic' cops

THE host of a sex party held illegally and attended by EU politicians during the coronavirus pandemic is filing a complaint against the police officers who broke it up.

David Manzheley, who organised the sex party in Brussels last year with 25 attendees – including Hungarian MEP Jozsef Szajer – claims police caused £6,000 in damage to his furniture and acted in a homophobic way.

He says the only reason the police knew about his event was because they were tipped off by people hosting their own party.

He also claims police came by several times in the last few months to "intimidate" him.

Manzheley said: "To be honest, I do not see what the problem is. There were two nurses present as well, they did not think it was dangerous either."

FEMALE masturbation... it's big news these day.

Aimee Lou Wood has revealed she had a 'vulnerability hangover' after filming scenes pleasuring herself for Sex Education.

The actress, 26, who plays Aimee Gibbs in the hit Netflix series, admitted she worried about how she looked during the shoot a short time after wrapping.

On the Make It Reign podcast, Aimee said: "The show's intimacy co-ordinator said sometimes you'll feel pretty exhilarated after you've just done the sex scene, then a day or two later you get a bit of a vulnerability hangover and you're like, 'St!'

"A couple of days later I was like, 'Oh, my god!' So many worries were ignited. I had a major vulnerability hangover. I was like, 'I look hideous, my arse in the air, so unflattering'.

"Now I look back at that and think, 'wow, great!'."

And most fans would agree.

In fact, there is little better than watching a lady diddle her parts.

70 fined as police raid 'nightclub'

ABOUT 70 people have been fined after police disrupted an illegal nightclub in Birmingham over the weekend.

West Midlands Police said they had received information that part of a building had been turned into a bar.

After witnessing a number of taxis drop people off at the venue on Saturday night, officers forced their way inside to find 150 people packed in across two floors.

As well as the bar, with neon signs and a dance room, police came across a recording studio and gym.

Some officers were pelted with bottles and one suffered injury as a door was smashed open by people trying to break out.

Many are believed to have fled across rooftops when police arrived, but about 70 revellers were caught and issued with £200 fines. The DJ could also face a £10,000 fine.

Asst Chief Constable Chris Todd said: "It's unacceptable that our officers came under attack just for doing their job."

Swingers defy COVID to enjoy kinky party

SWINGERS flouted lockdown restrictions to hold a kinky Valentine's Day sex party.

It's understood up to 12 couples attended the Dublin event in defiance of Ireland's restrictions on holding indoor gatherings.

Some of the well-heeled guests wore Eyes Wide Shut-style masks to protect their identity.

The party has become an annual tradition – but some in the swinging community expressed disgust it went ahead this year with the country still battling COVID-19.

HUBBY HID IN WARDROBE AS WIFE BONKED TEEN

CUCKOLD FETISH: Rich liked to watch wife (below) having sex

By SUZIE SHELDON

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WIFE was nicked for having rampant sex with a 15-year-old school exchange student.

And the randy woman's hubby was also arrested – because while his wife spread her legs for the teen's iron-hard cock, he was watching from the wardrobe, furiously masturbating.

An anonymous tipster told cops that 34-year-old Kimberly Wellman-Rich – a teacher from Lafayette, Louisiana – was having a sexual relationship with the foreign exchange student.

And when detectives investigated, they found hubby Jeffery Rich was far from unhappy with the arrangement.

The Youngsville Police Department said in a statement: "On Friday, January 22, 2021, the YPD received an anonymous complaint from the DCFS intake office.

Fetish

"The complainant alleged that Kimberly Wellman-Rich is a host parent to a male juvenile foreign exchange student and they believed Mrs. Wellman-Rich was having a sexual relationship with the student".

Investigators alleged Wellman-Rich began having full and anal sexual intercourse with the juvenile when he was 15 years old up until the time he was removed from her home.

Authorities also claim Jeffery Rich had "first-hand knowledge" of the sexual relationship.

A source said: "Evidence pointed to the fact Jeffery Rich had a 'cuckold fetish', that he liked watching his wife being penetrated by other males.

"In this case, the male was underage."

In addition to the alleged sexual assault, the investigation reportedly indicated that both Wellman-Rich and her husband "supplied the juvenile with marijuana and allowed the juvenile to smoke and consume alcohol at their residence".

Wellman-Rich was arrested on charges of carnal knowledge of a juvenile, indecent behaviour with a juvenile, encouraging or contributing to child delinquency and contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Rich was arrested on charges of accessory to felony carnal knowledge of a juvenile and contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Administrators with the Lafayette Parish School System and the company responsible for placing foreign exchange students with families within the U.S. worked in conjunction to remove the juvenile male from the Rich residence.

Cops aim to sniff out poo monster

COPS are on the smelly trail of a serial shitter who dumps in unlocked cars at car washes and garages.

The dirty pest was first caught on security camera at Mr. Friendly Auto Service in Warren, Michigan, in November.

Boss Chris Phillips said: "I just couldn't believe somebody is that inhumane, that ignorant.

"He defecated inside the customer's van, pants half-down.

"He wiped in the parking lot, dropped the napkins on the ground, picked it up and threw it in the dumpster.

"I've never, ever seen anything like this before."

The poo pest has been back twice more since and targeted two other businesses after hours.

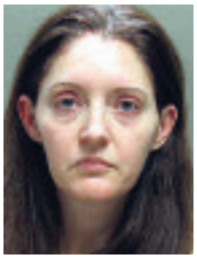
TEACHER JAILED FOR ROMPS WITH BOY, 14

A TEACHER has been caged for four years after shagging a 14-year-old student.

Brooke Wright, 40, of Gahanna, Ohio, pleaded guilty in September to two felony counts of sexual battery.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Chris Brown imposed the sentence, which includes a requirement that Wright register as a sex offender every 90 days for life.

Wright (below) was a teacher and administer at Ventures Academy, an alternative school that serves students in need of "social, emotional and behavioural interventions".



Although Wright met the boy at the school in Delaware County when he was 13, the sexual activity took place at locations in Franklin County when he was 14.

The Educational Service Center suspended Wright from the school after becoming aware of the sexual allegations in August 2019.

EXPERTS PREDICT SPRING NOOKIE 'EXPLOSION'

APRIL (SPUNK) SHOWERS!

TOP 5 REASONS FOR BREAKING THE LOCKDOWN FOR SEX...

1 I missed physical intimacy – 52%
2 I was having cyber sex and wanted to meet for real – 36%
3 We met for a walk and then decided to have sex anyway – 32%
4 It was exciting meeting someone new – 28%
5 Booze made me forget about the rules – 27%

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A SPRING affairs 'explosion' is on the cards as a third of people admit breaking the COVID lockdown for sex in the last year.

There has been a surge in new affairs over the last month as the vaccines roll-out signals the crisis is finally coming to an end.

One in seven cheaters (14%) say they have been looking to arrange new hook-ups since the start of the New Year.

And 74% of people cheating on their partners say they will start sleeping with people again once all the over-50s get vaccinated.

Missing physical intimacy is the top reason for breaking COVID rules – chosen by 52% of those who have slept with someone they shouldn't since the crisis.

The second most popular reason was "I was having a cyber affair and decided to meet for real" (36%), followed by "We met for a walk and had sex anyway" (32%), "It was exciting meeting someone new" (28%) and "Booze made me forget about the rules" (27%).

The results are from a new survey of 2,000 people by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading affairs site.

Saleswoman Mel, 31, of Brighton, East Sussex, who started a new affair just as the vaccine roll-out gathered pace, said: "We have all been locked in prison for too long.

"There is going to be an explosion of affairs by Easter, once all the vulnerable are protected.

"I decided my mental health was more important and have no regrets about breaking lockdown. I have been tested and I am very careful about who I meet.

Exciting

"I have had sex with two men in breach of lockdown in the last year – both times the sex was amazing.

"The first time was over last summer when we met a few times for sex in parks and beauty spots.

"I found a new lover in January and we have met at my place for sex in the last two weeks before Valentine's.

"So many people are longing to get back to life as it was before, and lots of men are looking to hook up.

"Life is too short to be stuck on your own for months on end and I miss physical contact with the opposite sex.

"The first time I had sex this year was incredibly exciting – like losing your virginity all over again."

The survey found that 86% of people having affairs felt 'more relaxed' about breaking lockdown now the vaccine roll-out was happening.

More than half of those breaching the rules (61%) have sneaked to their partner's house for sex.

Other popular places for sex include cars, parks, beaches, beauty spots and other public places.

A third (32%) answered a late night 'booty call' and went to their partner's house specifically for sex.

The survey found that 34% of people have had sex in breach of lockdown rules.

The lockdown cheating level was even higher among the under-30s, with 44% admitting they had breached the rules by having sex.

Less than half those questioned (46%) said they felt guilty about ignoring the restrictions.

IllicitEncounters.com sex and relationship expert Jessica Leoni said: "By the spring, it is going to be like a mass prison break-out as people stuck with partners for a year feel safe enough to start new affairs.

"Affairs that are currently happening on Facetime and Zoom because of restrictions will finally get physical."

'Kitty Kat' cam wife killer caged

A MAN convicted of manslaughter in the death of his cam girl wife was jailed for 16 years.

William West, 47, will get credit for three years served since his arrest in the January 2018 death of 42-year-old Kathleen West.

Kathleen, who posted revealing images of herself online as "Kitty Kat West," was found dead outside the couple's home in Calera, 30 miles south of Birmingham, Alabama.

Prosecutors argued that she died from a blow to the head from a Lucid Absinthe bottle wielded by her husband, which was found near her partially clothed body.

But West claimed she died after hitting her head in a drunken fall.

The couple's 15-year-old daughter, Logan West, pleaded with the judge during the hearing to set her dad free.

"He has always been my shield against the world," she told the judge.

"Please give me my father back as soon as possible."

After six days on the run, police finally closed in on the man who'd killed four people...

IT was a killing spree that shocked the nation and kept rural folk in terror for a week.

Twin sisters and an elderly couple had been savagely beaten and stabbed to death in incidents 25 miles apart in North Yorkshire over the course of one weekend in July 2004.

The gruesome discoveries sparked one of the biggest manhunts in the country for many years.

Detectives in the largely rural county moved quickly to name Mark Hobson as the murder suspect...

CRIMINALS ON THE

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE bodies of Mark Hobson's 27-year-old girlfriend Claire Sanderson and her sister Diane had been discovered in the killer's flat at Camblesforth, near Selby, by Diane's boyfriend and the girls' father on the morning of Sunday, July 18, 2004.

Police said the two women had died several days apart, and that Diane had been sexually abused and strangled.

Both had been stripped naked and Claire's body had been wrapped in bin liners.

Hobson killed Claire with 17 hammer blows after a drinking spree.

STABBED: James and Joan Britton were brutally murdered by druggie and alcoholic killer Mark Hobson

After wrapping her in the bin liners he left her corpse decomposing in the bedroom.

It would later emerge he had told a fellow refuse collector he had "picked the wrong sister" after he set up home with Claire.

A week later he tricked her sister Diane into the couple's maisonette and subjected her to a degrading sexual attack before strangling her with a rope.

Broken

Around three hours after the girls' bodies were discovered an elderly disabled couple, 80-year-old former Spitfire pilot James Britton and his wife Joan, 82, were found dead at their detached house at Strensall on the outskirts of York.

They had been severely beaten and stabbed in the back after Hobson had broken into their home looking for food and money.

Det Supt Javad Ali, who led the murder hunt, revealed Hobson had visited his mother Sandra and asked to be driven to York District Hospital.

The hospital is only a few miles from the village of Strensall.

Sandra Hobson had made a plea for her son to give himself up to police or contact to a solicitor.

"I know things are difficult and you might be thinking about what to do next," she pleaded.

By then the case had received nationwide publicity and police were deluged with hundreds of "sightings" of the shaven-headed ex-bin man.

In one day, North Yorkshire Police had recorded 175 reported sightings, one coming from as far away as New Zealand.

The killer had in fact barely travelled more than a handful of miles from the site of the elderly couple's home and was hiding out in the countryside.

Detectives were looking carefully at reports of petty thefts from washing lines, burglaries and reports of missing persons in an effort to pinpoint where food or extra clothing may have been taken by the fugitive.

For a week, hundreds of officers and dog handlers scoured vast tracts of the county's rolling countryside looking for signs of anyone living rough.

Off-licences, pubs and shops selling alcohol were urged to keep an eye out for Hobson, who, Mr Ali said, "was known to like a drink".

Pressure

As police turned up the pressure and intensified their searches, Hobson's ex-wife Kay pleaded with him through a Sunday newspaper to give himself up.

MURDERED BY MANIAC: Pretty Diane and Claire Sanderson

was driven out into the open to buy matches, cigarette papers and a bottle of water at a roadside garage on the A19 road at Shipton-by-Beningbrough, north of York.

The garage owner, Derek North, recognised him immediately.

"It was roughly 1430 BST on Sunday and this chap came into the shop. I recognised him straight away with is earring, his hair, his nose and scar," he explained.

"He bought a box of matches, a bottle of water and cigarette papers. He paid in change and just went.

"We watched him and by that time the laddie from the furniture place came in and we decided between us that it was him (Hobson) so he ran down to his place and rang the police."

Officers arrived to find the man they had been scouring the country for sitting in a field close to the garage.

In court in 2005, Hobson admitted all four of the murders.

The court was also told that Hobson had previously stabbed a love rival five times in the chest in a daylight attack in front of shoppers in Selby in 2002, leaving him with a punctured lung.

Hobson had admitted grievous bodily harm and avoided a prison sentence, instead receiving a community punishment.

That lenient sentence came under fierce criticism in the light of Hobson's later offending.

At Leeds Crown Court, Mr Justice Grigson told him: "The enormity of what you have done is beyond words."

Destroyed

Sentencing Hobson to life in prison with a whole-life tariff, he said: "The damage you've done is incalculable. You not only destroyed the lives of your victims, but you devastated the lives of those who loved them."

Before the court case, Hobson had been placed in solitary confinement for three months after attacking Ian Huntley, the former school caretaker who murdered two female pupils at a Cambridgeshire school, scalding him with a bucket of boiling water.

A prison service spokesman at the time said that, due to the nature of high-security prisoners, "it really is impossible to prevent incidents of this nature occasionally happening".

In January 2006, letters were released from Wakefield Prison where Hobson blamed alcohol for his killing spree.

It had been revealed in court that he was an alcoholic who regularly drank as many as 20 pints a day.

He was also addicted to heroin and also used other drugs.

Now he is serving his whole-life term in Wakefield Prison so will never to be released – one of the first times such a recommendation had been made for someone who had admitted their crime at the first opportunity.

MURDER VICTIM'S FEET WERE DEEP FRIED

VICTIM: Peter Gerold (above) and Taray Herring

COPS responding to reports of a burglary were left retching as they uncovered body parts including deep-fried FEET!

The horrifying drama started when officers were called to the home of 70-year-old massage therapist Peter Gerold.

Police followed a U-Haul self-drive truck they saw driving away from Mr Gerold's home and pulled the vehicle over a short distance away.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The driver got out of the truck and said, "I don't want anything to do with this, and there's a body in the back".

A bloody torso was found in the back of the truck and other body parts found in rubbish bags in a skip behind a nearby shopping mall.

Abuse

Among the body parts were the victim's hands and feet, which appeared to have been deep-fried.

Police spokeswoman Cpl. Jasmine Reilly said the body parts are consistent with an adult male and it's thought they belong to Peter Gerold.

The driver of the truck was later released.

But the passenger, registered sex offender Taray Herring, 47, was nicked and charged with burglary and abuse of a corpse.

He has also been charged with theft, criminal trespass and tampering with evidence but has not yet been charged over the death of Mr Gerold, who lived in the Somerton area of Philadelphia.

Other body parts are believed to have been found in a detached garage at Mr Gerold's home, along with evidence that someone had attempted to burn a body.

Police said they also found a weapon in the back of the U-Haul truck.

One neighbour said: "He helped out a lot of people, so you know it was somebody that he probably helped out that came back and did this to him."

New neighbour is a cannibal nonce!

RESIDENTS are furious after finding out a CANNIBAL NONCE is moving into their street.

Householders were stunned to receive an alert that Jason Scarcello, a registered sex offender who has an interest in cannibalism, is their new neighbour.

A police investigation revealed Scarcello, 45, took part in online chats discussing eating children.

Now he's moving into the sleepy suburb of Orangevale in Sacramento, California, after being released from an eight-year jail term for noncing.

Resident Stephanie Barnes raged: "Eating children? All of it is disgusting. Not one bit is it okay and I want him out of here.

"This is not the place for him. He should have his butt back in jail."

SLEEPING BEAUTY: Super sexy Spears

YOU'LL remember only too well the #MeToo movement that started a couple of years ago.

When actresses came forward in their droves to reveal how dreadfully they had been abused right across the film-making industry.

Horrific stories of "casting couch" experiences, sex favours-for-roles, grubby hotel room interviews, and ultimately claiming the scalp of Hollywood movie mogul Harvey Weinstein.

It was Tinseltown's bloodletting and was as bloody, ruthless and in your face as any of the blockbusters old perv Harvey ever brought to our screens.

Comedy, fashion, music, too – no one was spared.

And to this day, court cases sparked by #MeToo rumble on in a quest to further uncover the truth.

Ugly

Every cloud has a silver lining, then – or it did until coronavirus reared its ugly head.

Suddenly, theatres closed and film production studios were shut down.

Live music gigs were off and stand-up comedy was now something that only happened in a Zoom meeting.

And that was when it really kicked in – that celebs suddenly had no one to actually be a celebrity to.

Suddenly, all the headlines were about thousands dying from Chinese flu – and the wise words of some never-heard-of-you knob from a US sitcom were no longer required reading.

It was at this point that celebrities – or more likely their publicists – started scrabbling around for ways of still making their multi-millionaire clients still relevant.

Because they assume we can't get enough of reading about a Z-lister's latest perfume contract, or whether or not they only eat steamed chicken on a bed of shredded lettuce once a week.

In the middle of all this dusty desert of what used to be celebrity news central, something else happened – the death of George Floyd and Black Lives Matter.

Members of the US group started running around America rioting and ruining and demanding the police be disbanded – as you do.

Instead of simply locking the protestors up, the US – with one eye on last November's presidential election – decided to say "sorry" for slavery events that happened centuries ago.

And that was when all the publicists and agents in Los Angeles shared a lightbulb moment – spotting a way of getting back into the headlines again.

So now we see A-listers tripping over themselves to say "sorry" to everyone and everything about anything at all.

Justin Timberlake is one of the latest, the singer apologising to Britney Spears for something or other.

But he has nothing to apologise to her for, other than simply going out with her and, by all accounts, having her in the sack more than One More Time.

Why apologise?

The spawny git should be moonwalking along Sunset Boulevard with a medal around his neck.

TALKING of horrible self-publicists who possess not a single sense of irony, what about Harry and Meghan's photo given out to announce she's with child again.

Unless they come home to Britain, christen the new baby Wayne or Waynetta, get the child's ears pierced before they're six months' old, and bring them up on a mobile caravan site by the seaside, no one's arsed.

Small town leaders are all crooks!

THE mayor, police chief, city clerk and a former city clerk of a small town were all arrested for allegedly abusing their power – with crimes including stealing money, falsifying records and strong-arming civilians, officials said.

In one instance, a resident in Armstrong, Iowa – population 840 – was attacked by one of the defendants with a stun gun to shake them down for money, authorities said.

Mayor Greg Buum (above), police chief Craig Merrill, city clerk Tracie Lang and former city clerk Connie Thackery are charged with offences in a 21-count joint trial information approved by the Emmet County District Court.

The Iowa Attorney General's Office filed charges after a multi-year investigation uncovered allegations of theft, felonious misconduct in office, tampering with records, assault with a dangerous weapon and falsifying public records.

Subway train depot veteran rattled into woman's love tunnel

A RAILWAY worker has resigned after watchdogs caught him having sex with a woman at a train depot – while collecting overtime pay.

The railway machinist, a 25-year veteran, brought an unauthorised woman onto the grounds of the New York subway train maintenance depot three times last spring – including at least one time that got steamy.

Investigators observed the man and woman – neither of whom were identified by name in the report – "kiss and have intimate contact" in a railway storage yard "behind the open door" of the woman's Nissan Pathfinder.

The trainyard tryst occurred in the middle of the man's overtime shift and lasted 77 minutes.

He was suspended without pay and quit before he was fired.

Fans want Xena babe to replace sacked Gina in The Mandalorian

BEAUTY AND THE BREAST: Lucy in Spartacus and (below) as Xena

STAR PHWOARS!

AXED: Gina Carano

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

FANS are calling for Xena star Lucy Lawless to replace axed Gina Carano as Cara Dune in the Star Wars spinoff series The Mandalorian.

Lucasfilm confirmed Carano, 38, won't be returning to Pinewood Studios in England to film the third season of the Disney+ series.

Carano's departure was ultimately prompted by inflammatory comments she made on social media, comparing political censorship to the persecution of Jews in Nazi Germany.

Cult

Twitter critics have since vowed to stop watching the Emmy-nominated series, showing their support for Carano by using the hashtag #CancelDisneyPlus.

However, it seems many fans have already moved on – and now have their sights set on Lawless, 52, the former star of the cult hit TV series Xena: Warrior Princess.

"Instead of #canceldisneyplus, can they just cast Lucy Lawless as Cara Dune and pretend it was her the whole time?" asked Dungeons & Dragons podcasters @SeveredSonsDnD, who has garnered nearly 19,000 likes in support of the idea.

"What if Lucy Lawless took over as Cara Dune and we all just pretended she was always Cara Dune?" asked @JesseNeon on Twitter.

"Hear me out, casting Lucy Lawless as Cara Dune would sell SOOO many action figures. I'm just saying. She'd bring in a lot of bank," suggested @IsabelSDieppa.

Disney+ reps did not immediately respond to a request for comment on the social media casting advice.

Lawless was recently praised by social media users after publicly dragging former co-star and Donald Trump supporter Kevin Sorbo, who played Hercules in the eponymous fantasy series of the 1990s while she was ruling as Xena.

The two mythical characters would often team up for crossover episodes – although it appears there's no love lost between the two.

Lucy also stripped off for the sexy historical drama Spartacus: Blood and Sand.

BAND MISS BLEW TEEN'S FLUTE!

A SCHOOL band teacher hit a bum note when she blew a teen pupil's flute before encouraging the lad to slip his pink oboe up her brown hole.

Ashlee Steinman, 29, faces charges of school employee having sex with a student under the age of 19 and school employee having sexual contact with a student.

TUNED IN TO SEX: Steinman (left) taught at school

C. J. Robinson, the assistant district attorney for the 19th Judicial Circuit in Clanton, Alabama, said Steinman was arrested after using her official position to gain access to a student with whom she carried out an illegal relationship.

Steinman was nicked after the Clanton Police Department received a report of the sexual relationship, which involved a male student of the school who is 18.

She was also charged with oral copulation and "unnatural fornication" – which is Alabama legal talk for bum sex.

According to the Chilton County High School website, Steinman had been the band director at the school since 2017.

"We go where the evidence takes us, but we are very early in the process." Robinson said.

"If the investigation reveals probable cause for more charges or, heaven forbid, additional victims, then we are ready to act."

If she is convicted, Steinman could face between two and 20 years in prison.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Kelly,

MY missus may be 42 but she's still got the body of a 20-year-old.

She's always willing to try new things when we make love and she will even dress up for me if I ask her.

I came home from work a couple of weeks ago and she had a nice surprise for me.

I climbed the stairs I could hear my favourite rock track blasting out. And I got a real shock when I walked into the bedroom, because the wife was dressed in a sexy micro-dress and leather boots air-guitaring like a good 'un.

I got an immediate hard-on as she performed her routine. And when she bent over in front of me to reveal that she wasn't wearing any panties, my knob almost burst through my trousers.

She was obviously feeling as horny as I was, and immediately dived on top of me.

Then she went down on me, expertly working me to a frenzy with her tender tongue and luscious lips.

She soon brought me to a thundering climax, before laying back on the bed with just her boots on. She spread her well-muscled thighs wide, inviting me to return the favour.

Several licks and sucks later she was desperately begging me to enter her, so I gently eased in my seven-incher.

I gradually built up a steady rhythm until she was gasping for breath as she orgasmed in ecstasy.

Soon after that I reached my second climax, and we lay gently caressing each other for a while as the band rocked on.

That was two weeks ago and she has greeted me the same way every night since But now she wants me to dress as the drummer in the band, but I'm now worried she might have more of a thing for him than me.

What do you think?

GR, Suffolk

Kelly says…

WHAT does it matter? There's only one real instrument being played – yours!

I'm using lodger's todger

Dear Kelly,

MY husband and I are strapped for cash and decided to raise money by taking in a lodger. We advertised in our local paper and eventually settled on a hunky young student.

Everything went well for the first few weeks, until one morning after my husband had left for work. The lodger's bedroom door was ajar and I could see him having a wank.

I was transfixed and must have let the door swing open a bit more because he looked up and saw me staring. But instead of being embarrassed, he held my gaze. And, as if in a dream, I went into the room, sat on the bed and grabbed his manhood.

I slowly bent over and took the tip of his member in my mouth. He gently pressed me down until I had taken half his length in my throat. As his balls began to tighten I eased up and slipped off my dressing gown and lay naked by him.

He pulled me on top of him and sucked my nipples as his hands explored my moist pussy.

He parted my love-lips and gently inserted two, then three fingers while rubbing my hard clit with his thumb.

After a few minutes of this finger-fking I was on the edge of an orgasm so I reached down, grabbed his huge knob and guided it in. There was still not a word said as I rode him until he emptied his juice into me.

I dressed and left him there and when he eventually came down we said nothing about it.

Now he waits deliberately until my husband has gone to work and lies in his room until I go to him.

I don't want to complicate things by forming any other kind of relationship. Do you think I am just using him?

SF, Manchester

Kelly says….

YES and he's using you! You're both having fun, just make sure you don't get caught

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

My head for women's figures could cost me

Dear Kelly,

I'M a fully trained accountant with a great head for figures, even if I say so myself.

But I've lost count of the number of randy business women who have offered me sex when I've been sorting through their books.

At first I accepted all the offers – I'd happily give them a good seeing-to in their offices or during home visits.

Services

One busty blonde in her early 40s even asked for a discount on my services when she let me slip it up her arse.

But now I'm a little bit more choosy about whose books, and indeed whose boobs, I get my hands on.

Generally women who run small internet businesses from home are the most filthy in bed, I have found.

I was recommended recently to a potential new client by another woman I'd serviced last year.

Round at her house one evening, she poured us both a glass of wine, and within minutes she had her gob wrapped round my bellend while she fondled my plums through my suit trousers.

I confess, I didn't last long, and ended up splashing my fat all over her hair and face.

But the next day she emailed me a bill for an emergency hairdresser's appointment – saying she expected me to pay it, after glopping on her barnet!

I'm beginning to think sex with these clients could cost me a small fortune. Help!

RS, Northants

Kelly says...

JUST be careful you don't take on too much "work" – your cock might fall off!

Dear Kelly,

MY girlfriend and I have been with each other for a year now and had the perfect relationship until a month ago when I walked into our local bar and caught her getting off with some random girl.

They were snogging in a corner and I could see that under the table they had their hands in each other's knickers.

They were clearly getting off and giving each other sticky orgasms.

I pulled her outside and asked her what the hell was going on and she laughed and said it wasn't a big deal and she snogs girls all the time, clearly unaware I'd seen them go further.

I know it's not exactly cheating but that's how she's making me feel, in spite of the fact I got a fair old stiffy watching them at it.

What do you think?

John, Sheffield

Kelly says...

KEEP a close eye on her – with luck she'll do it again while you're watching.

Wife loves role as I fill her tight hole

Dear Kelly,

ME and the missus have been married for 10 years and have a very active sex life.

We are both love role-playing and our particular favourite is when I pretend to be a customs officer and strip-search her.

The wife wears a tight-fitting skirt with a white blouse and black lacy stockings and suspenders.

We pretend that she's just got off a plane from Amsterdam and I'm searching her for drugs.

There are no women officers available so I have to take her into a quiet room where I ask her to put her arms out against the wall and spread her legs slightly – and then I start to frisk her.

I slowly run my hands over her shoulders and her fantastic 34D boobs. I then concentrate on her legs and play with her stocking tops.

After the initial search I am still not convinced she hasn't got any drugs and I inform her I'm going to have to strip-search her.

I slowly undress her until she is naked. I kiss her neck and tell her that if she lets me do an internal examination with my cock I'll let her go.

She agrees and I handcuff her and unleash my throbbing knob into her mouth. After she has sucked me off, I then bend her over a chair and take her doggy-style while fingering her bum, and just as I am about to come I enter her arse.

It's brilliant as I squeeze my eight-incher into her tight hole.

She loves it, but do you think our behaviour is a bit weird?

DB, Oxfordshire

Kelly says...

NO. If it turns you both, carry on strip- searching.

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 26-year-old babe in urgent need of advice.

A couple of months ago I had a fling with a lad at work. He was only 19, but he kept flirting and one day I took him into the stockroom for to see what he was made of.

Things got a bit out of hand and I ended up shagging him, but the manager caught us and we both got a reprimand.

Within days, it got all around the works about what we had been up to and I was terrified that my husband would find out.

Flirting

Luckily he didn't – but I have got myself a bit of a reputation and another bloke started flirting with me.

He was fit so I was happy and ended up arranging a threesome with him and the first bloke at his flat.

They took off my clothes and started to kiss me. I was so turned on I couldn't wait to have their cocks in me. They had me in loads of different positions.

Now they want to repeat the session.

What should I do?

TS, Essex

Kelly says...

ENJOY it. He won't tell.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'Kinky outfits bring out my wildest and filthiest side!'

WHAT turns me on the most is getting dressed up in kinky outfits.

Wearing them brings out different sides to me… quite frankly my most wildest and flithiest!

I love bondage stuff. I've got a black PVC boddice that I pair with wet-look stockings – when I wear that and use my whip, I'm very dominant.

Equally, I enjoy being submissive and I'll wear a leather bondage belt outfit that makes me look as if I'm constrained. Believe me, it leaves almost nothing to the imagination.

My nurse uniform dress, which is very short and reveals a lot of bust, looks great with white stockings, and makes me feel really sweet and playful.

In my cheeky cop outfit I'm very bossy and authorative in the bedroom – and in a maids uniform I pretend I'm an innocent employee who gets taken advantage of by my dirty boss.

I've also got a cute bunny girl outfit and a school uniform.

And I have thigh high boots which I wear with a short, tight pink dress.

In that I look like a hooker – and that REALLY brings out my slutty side!

BATHTIME belter Taylor Sands may be getting all clean here but she's a VERY dirty girl!

The Dutch cracker admitted that she LOVES it up the botty!

The 32B Amsterdam angel might not have giant boobs, but she makes up for that by LOVING it up the bum.

Meaty

Taylor, who has deliciously-meaty pussy lips, said: "When they asked me to take it in the ass for a movie, I thought, 'Oh dear!'

"But the first time a hard cock went up there I came immediately and squirted from my little pussy.

"Now I just cannot get enough of the bum fun!

"In one movie, I had TWO dicks up my ass at the same time. Oof!"

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

BRICKLAYER Ryan Lowton is desperate for a photo of fellow Scouser and stunning Midweek Sport legend Debra Turpin.

The 42-year-old brickie is a huge fan of the redhead and her sensational knockers.

He wrote: "Can you please put Debra in the paper? She's from Liverpool, like me, and she's the hottest girl I've ever seen.

"She's not been in the paper for a while, so could you print a photo of her with her 36C boobs out? That would be absolutely brilliant."

Here you go Ryan, we're sure you'll enjoy this one!

VICKI THOMAS

TOPLESS beauty Vicki Thomas is well fancied by betting shop worker Gareth Harding.

The 57-year-old, from Stafford, only has eyes for Weston-super-Mare babe Vicki and she's top of all his markets.

Gareth says he can't get enough of Vicki and her 36DDs and begged for her sexiest ever photo to be printed in the paper.

He said: "We always have the Sport in the shop and I often flick through the paper.

"But Vicky is easily my all-time favourite glamour girl.

"Please can I have another photo of her?"

ALEXIS JONES

SUNDAY League footballer Thomas Smith has a pre-match ritual which sees him ogling Alexis Jones's boobs.

Thomas, 28, who's a centre-half for his local team in Preston, says Alexis's 36D knockers are his good luck charm.

He said: "My big superstition before a match on Sunday is to always have a good few minutes to myself staring at Alexis's boobs.

"She's from nearby Blackpool and has always been a real stunna.

"I've heard glamour girls love footballers, so she might make an appearance one day!"

TITLE HOPE: Solskjaer

Ole: We won't abandon title like Liverpool

By JOHN ANTHONY

OLE Gunnar Solskjaer has aimed a dig at Liverpool boss Jurgen Klopp after he conceded the title to Manchester City.

The Man United gaffer says he's not prepared to hand the Premier League to Pep Guardiola yet — despite trailing by seven points and having played a game more.

After losing to Leicester, Klopp said Liverpool's title defence is over and the focus now is finishing in the top four and qualifying for the Champions League.

Solskjaer doesn't see it that way. He said: "Let's just build momentum and win games. City are in good form. Us and Leicester have to put up a fight."

Many are taking that as a slight against Liverpool because he talked about the Foxes and not the Anfield men.

Solksjaer has come in for stick himself from one of his own players.

Jesse Lingard says he wasn't given a fair crack of the whip at Old Trafford this season.

GAME TIME: Lingard

That's why he headed south to West Ham on loan for the rest of the campaign.

Lingard said: "At this age, it's all about regular football and showing people what you can do.

"First and foremost I'm at West Ham to play, win and help the team, so hopefully I can do that and we'll see where we're at come the end of the season.

"But it's about playing with a smile on my face and enjoying my football and getting back to the old Jesse.

CONCEDED: Klopp

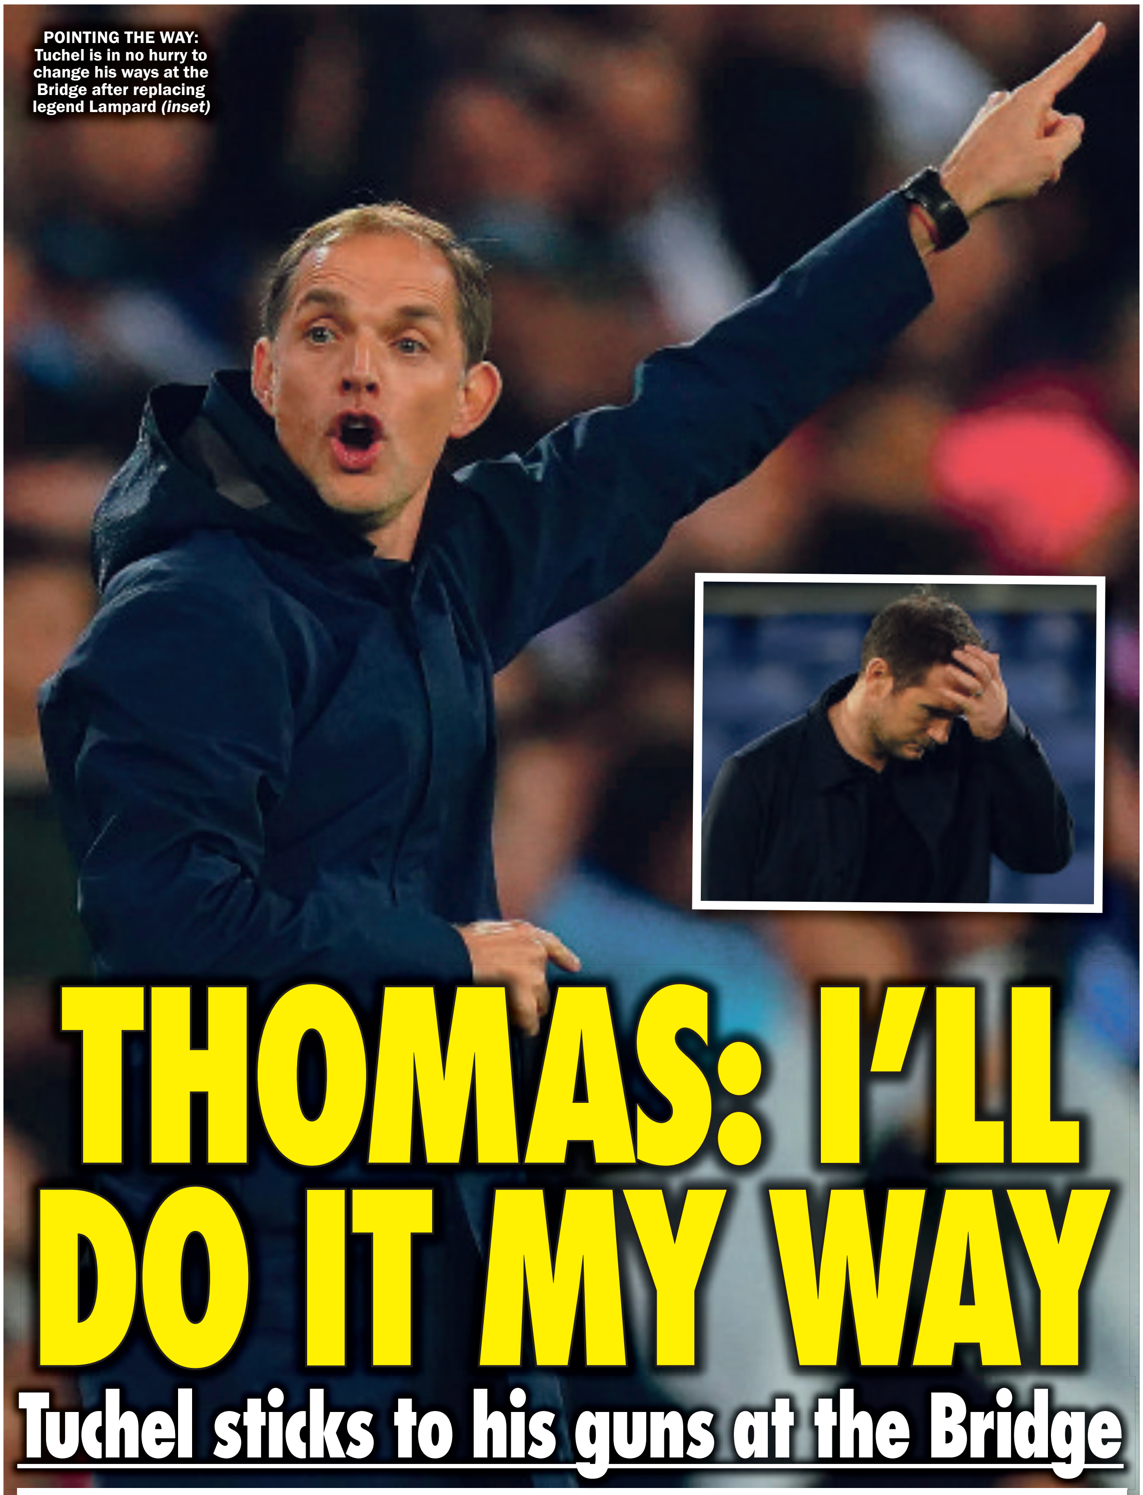
"Football is a lot of ups and downs, people go through different stages and it's not just a straight road to the top.

"There are a lot of setbacks which most people don't see and a lot of things that go on behind closed doors.

"During the lockdown I recapped my best moments playing football – the season under Jose Mourinho where I scored all of those goals and went to the World Cup and the season when Ole came in and I started well.

"I got that fire in my belly and drive again to go and kick on because it would have been easy for me to fall off and take the easy option out.

"But a person like me who's been through a lot and knows the game, I can't just give it up and I'll always go out with a fight."



POINTING THE WAY: Tuchel is in no hurry to change his ways at the Bridge after replacing legend Lampard (inset)

THOMAS: I'LL DO IT MY WAY

Tuchel sticks to his guns at the Bridge

By PAUL THOMAS

THOMAS Tuchel says he couldn't care less whether Chelsea fans like him or not.

The new Blues boss has made a good start to life at Stamford Bridge.

After replacing a club legend in Frank Lampard, the German could be forgiven for being worried about the fans backing him.

But he insists that life at Paris St Germain has taught him that results are the only thing that counts.

And he won't be putting on a show for the supporters — or anyone else in the dressing or board room.

Tuchel said: "Just because I'm trying hard to be kind it does not mean that I am trying too hard and that everybody loves me in the dressing room because this simply does not exist in football.

"It is not necessary. But, in a moment where I am happy I can tell them also that I am happy with their attitude, their performance and the atmosphere in the dressing room. There is no harm in that, I don't hold it back then."

It has already been mentioned that Tuchel is one of the quieter managers on the touchline.

Some pundits could use that against him, accusing him of lacking passion when things are going wrong on the pitch.

But Tuchel is not having that either.

He said: "Can I be a shouter? Yeah, of course, if it's absolutely necessary. But I can be totally emotional, and I can also totally be a shouter if I feel this is the minute to do it and to surprise.

"If you do it all the time then no one would listen because it becomes a habit, so everybody gets used to it.

"The goal is also to stay a little bit unpredictable, and most of the time to be reasonable because, for me, it is important we build a trust and relationship that we can rely on."

Tuchel points out that his methods are different to many other managers.

He certainly isn't the type to start throwing his players under the bus to the media after a poor performance.

That's not something that can be said of many Premier League managers — including some Stamford Bridge legends. Tuchel will stick to doing things his way.

He added: "Players won't get punished, shouted at or insulted in front of a group, this is unacceptable.

"But if we have to point out things clearly I'm a big friend of doing it in front of the whole group.

"If we have behaviours that harm the group and cause trouble for the team on the pitch, we should tell the players individually, but I believe strongly that everybody has to have the personality to swallow criticism in front of the group.

"That way no harm is done because we can talk openly. To be clear and to be honest, this will never change.

"I don't do stuff to be loved by everyone in the dressing room, this is simply not possible."

Fuming England gaffer Eddie on warpath

UNHAPPY: Jones thinks England should go on the attack

SIX NATIONS RUGBY

JONES WANTS MORE IN WALES

HEAD coach Eddie Jones has given his misfiring England players a kick up the backside.

The Red Rose lost the first game of the Six Nations against Scotland — and they weren't at their best despite beating Italy in round two.

Jones thinks the players are lacking in confidence and need to be more attacking.

Otherwise they face another reverse against Wales in a fortnight.

Jones can't fault the players for effort — but he wants them to get on the front foot.

He said: "What an honest and hardworking group of players we've got who want to play good positive rugby for England. They don't know how good they can be.

Plan

"We'd like our set pieces to be more dominant and we'd like to be better at taking our opportunities when we create them.

"That's the two areas we'll work on and get a game plan for Wales.

"It's about good practice, about every player being on the same page and being able to take the opportunities.

"There's nothing wrong with the skills or abilities of the players. Sometimes little indecisions can cause the attack not to be as sharp as it should be."

Kyle Sinckler was a major plus for England as he returned from his one-game ban for effing and jeffing at the ref.

The big prop was named man of the match and he agrees with Jones that the team could be a lot more attacking.

He said: "I feel we're ticking along nicely but I think we understand we're nowhere near where we want to be.

"There's so much growth left in this group. We need to keep pushing each other every day. We've got everything in place. We know what we can do, we just have to put it out on the field."

Wales coach Wayne Pivac admits his players are already focused on battling the old enemy.

He said: "England will pose a different challenge and we fully respect the side that they have, and the threat they will pose.

"What you're seeing is a product of the experimentation in the Nations Cup.

"It's well documented what we did in the autumn was with a view to building some depth, and you saw in the win against Scotland we had to call on that depth, in the back row, and also in the midfield."

Wales prop Tomas Francis can't wait for England to come into view.

He is hopeful that beating the Red Rose can propel them to another Six Nations title.

And he believes the two-week wait will really fire up both teams for what should be a titanic battle at the Principality Stadium.

Better

He said: "We only had a six-day turnaround for the Scotland game.

"But we've got two full weeks now, which is exciting, we can build as a squad, have some good training sessions, rip into each other, and then hopefully be in a much better place come England.

"It's a one-off game with a fallow week either side.

"We're at home, at the Principality Stadium, and it's our last home game of the tournament, and we just want to go out there and put on the best show we can."

PLANNING: Wayne Pivac

DEFEATED: Joe Root

ROOT IN DAMAGE REPAIR MISSION

CRICKET By ANDY MILLOM

JOE Root admits England took one hell of a beating in the second Test.

After losing the first game, India roared back to land a 317-run victory on a turning pitch in Chennai.

Root said: "We were outplayed in all three departments this week.

"It's a bit of an education. We've got to learn from this because sometimes these are the conditions that you come up against.

"We've got to find a way of scoring runs in these conditions, finding ways of building pressure for long periods of time with the ball, and in bowling six balls at one batter.

ON TOP: India's Kohli

"Credit to India, they made that very difficult for us."

Many pundits think the second Test pitch wasn't fit for purpose after crumbling and turning from the first morning.

England's match total of 298 runs is their lowest since 1995.

Root said: "It's very alien to what a lot of English guys will have experienced before, as are green seamers that you might across in the UK.

"Do I think it was a good pitch? I wouldn't say it was a good pitch, but it made for very exciting cricket.

"I do think that the toss was an important one to win but it wouldn't have guaranteed us to win the game either.

"India showed that you can score runs on it and found a way of managing a very tricky surface so we've got to learn from that.

"There are not many times that guys will have batted on a wicket that has bounced and spun and misbehaved as much as that.

"One thing I take from how India played is how calm they stayed when deliveries did really misbehave.

"How they didn't get away from their game plan, how they knew exactly the way they were going to score their runs. How they managed to bat at the other end for long periods of time.

"And as a batting group, how does that look for us individually? How I am going to manage these big turning deliveries and how am I going to stay really calm and clear under pressure? We've got to take bits from it and add it to our own games, and come back better for it as well."

VIDEO NASTY: Wayne Rooney

IT’S GONE TOO VAR

Rooney: Video ref is killing football

By JOHN ANTHONY

WAYNE Rooney says VAR must be scrapped right now.

The Derby boss believes the video referee is sucking all the joy out of football.

He would rather put up with some human error rather than the current shambles in the Premier League.

Fans and players can no longer celebrate a goal before killjoy, jobsworth officials start looking for a reason to disallow it using VAR.

Rooney said: “It takes the emotion out of the moment.

“I remember some of the goals I scored when I could have been onside or offside.

“You take a glance over and see the linesman’s flag is down and you carry on with your celebration.

“It’s ridiculous that players are waiting around for one minute, two minutes, to see if the goal will stand.

“If VAR came in and we knew every decision would be right people would accept it – but the fact they aren’t getting all the decisions right is even more frustrating.

“Even though you don’t agree with some decisions, we have to let them do the job and respect their views on it.

“Watching some of the decisions made through VAR in the Premier League is very frustrating, and you don’t understand how they have reached decisions.”
